

Should Cobourg Councillors be paid more than the minimum wage?

Councillors do not just attend Council meetings. They must also respond to emails, meet with constituents, research issues, study new legislation, attend Coordinator meetings, participate in the town's advisory committee meetings and attend numerous community events.

A Councillor works at least 25 hours per week and many put in far more time. At 25 hours per week Councillors are paid just $13.24/hour and much less per hour if they work longer.

In Ontario, the minimum wage is $14/hour and the average wage is over $27/hour.

Place a green dot in this area if you agree and a red dot if you disagree.