

NEWS AND OPINION FOR LIGHTING PEOPLE

LightNOW

This Week's Sponsor

Graphic Patterns

STREAM DOT

PRUDENTIAL LTG.

LIGHTING INDUSTRY

OSRAM SYLVANIA Settles Canadian Patent Infringement Lawsuit

CRAIG DILOUIE

SEPTEMBER 6, 2012 6:30 AM

157 VIEWS

NO COMMENTS

OSRAM SYLVANIA recently announced it has settled a patent infringement lawsuit in Canada against Canadian lighting distributors Lakefront Lighting Inc. of Cobourg, Ontario and Luxlite Inc. of Mississauga, Ontario.

The lawsuit, filed in Canadian Federal Court in Ottawa, Ontario, had been brought against the defendants alleging that they were selling and offering to sell electrodeless induction lamps in violation of OSRAM SYLVANIA's Canadian Patent No. 2,185,267, which is one of several OSRAM SYLVANIA patents related to its ICETRON induction lighting system. As part of the settlement, the defendants are enjoined from infringing the patent in suit.

---

Share this:

---

Like this:

Be the first to like this.

---

Related

OSRAM SYLVANIA Files Suit to Enforce and Protect Induction Lighting Patents
September 15, 2009
In "Lighting Industry"

GE Lighting Solutions and Dongbu Lightec Settle Patent Infringement Lawsuit
January 25, 2012
In "Lighting Industry"

OSRAM SYLVANIA Opens Solid State Lighting Research Center
April 16, 2009
In "LED + SSL"

 LIKE

 TWEET

 PIN

---

Leave a Reply

Your email address will not be published. Required fields are marked *

Comment